"All of the content in this training was relevant to my work as CEO in our NDIS organisation. The course gave me a lot more confidence in auditing processes and procedures and how my knowledge could be implemented very effectively in the workplace. The best part was actually doing the audit and putting the learning in place in our organisation. I also learnt personally how to slow down and be more meticulous in my work."

"I did this course to get extra skills for my job. The support was Amazing: weekly information sessions, the written material, phone conversations with trainers, something to suit all learning styles. Discussions with trainers had built my confidence and self-esteem. The ability to apply the course to a "real" situation made learning much easier. The course is very comprehensive and I have already recommended it to others – the flexibility is a real draw card. And I think anyone is working in an environment where external standards apply would benefit from this course."
